Course information

IOSH Managing Occupational Health and Wellbeing is for managers and supervisors working in any sector and for any organisation. It's designed to provide them with the tools and techniques to improve health and wellbeing across their organisation. They won't suddenly become health and wellbeing experts – but it will help them to become line managers who truly care about the health and wellbeing of an organisation's most important asset – its people.

On completion of the course and submission of the final assessment project, successful delegates are awarded an IOSH Managing Occupational Health and Wellbeing certificate. Learners also get a completion certificate immediately available for download from the course pending the IOSH verification process

“Very useful opportunity to spend some time focussing on the 'health' side of health and safety. Despite working as a professional safety advisor for more than 25 years, I still learned quite a few new things from this health and wellbeing course. As always, International Workplace have put much care and concern into designing their course.”

Sharada Crowe, Anglia Ruskin University

IOSH MANAGING OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND WELLBEING COVERS:

- A healthy company: understand how to manage the health and wellbeing of workers and have more effective discussions regarding their health needs.
- Health risk management: explore what health management is and why it makes good business sense to manage occupational health and wellbeing in the workplace.
- Fitness for work: understand non-related physical and mental health conditions and how this impacts employees' fitness for work.
- Wellbeing: How wellbeing adds value to the organisation and how to promote healthy lifestyles and positive mental health to enable a healthy workplace culture.

Ways to study

ELEARNING

Our market-leading eLearning courses utilise the most up-to-date learning technologies to provide the most engaging experience. Combining a mixture of video, spoken word and interactive content, our courses are designed to promote engagement, enhance learning and demonstrate understanding throughout. Learners will watch short films specially created for their course, tackle real life scenario questions, gain an understanding of key terminology by the use of dynamic animations, and put what they've learnt into practice with short, regular quizzes.

eLearning is what we do best. We are an award-winning eLearning provider and have been recognised at the eLearning Age Awards, Learning Technologies Awards and the Learning Awards.

Our SCORM-compliant courses can be accessed either through your own LMS or via our eLearning platform. Learner progress can be tracked via our analytics platform, which provides accurate, real-time reporting.

Our courses are supported by a variety of interactive eLearning materials to keep learners engaged and test understanding throughout the course. We have created a unique, interactive digital workbook that builds as you progress through the course – perfect for revision and to download and keep.

VIRTUAL CLASSROOM

Studying by virtual classroom gives learners the best of both worlds. Using Microsoft Teams, learners undertake sessions run by an expert health and safety trainer and then follow this with market-leading eLearning content that helps reinforce what they've learnt in the classroom. Learners are fully supported by highly qualified trainers throughout the course.

FACE TO FACE

With face-to-face classroom training, one of our highly qualified trainers will come to your workplace or a location of your choice and deliver your training in a traditional classroom approach. Learners are fully supported by our qualified trainers, who will guide them through the course.

The trainer-led sessions include a range of interactive activities to test learners' understanding of the course's key learning outcomes and to demonstrate industry-specific examples. Face-to-face training can be a great team-building opportunity for employees and to mix teams together. Course content can be tailored specifically to your company's requirements. Learners study alongside their colleagues in a familiar environment.

“ International Workplace has delivered another great course with their IOSH Occupational Health and Wellbeing course. It's packed with useful content that can be used to help identify areas where business's can improve, plan and monitor to help support change in the wellbeing and overall health of their staff and build mindful, healthier and happier people and workplaces for the long term.”

Terry Brown, MAPP

Why International Workplace?

At International Workplace we know that the best way to achieve safety and health training success is to get people fully involved with tailored content and learning by doing. We want to get learners really thinking about what they're learning – and having the confidence and enthusiasm to put it into practice when they're back at work – so that everyone notices the difference.

We're experts in eLearning – with the human touch.

All of our IOSH courses are available via eLearning, virtual classroom and face to face delivery. Our expert trainers can tailor the course content to your exact needs and give your learners as much or as little help as they need.

“Being able to just click on one link saves people having to remember different logins, so it's a really frictionless user experience.”

Andrew McNeill, Global Head of Training and Competence, Fugro
